

flusurvey.ie is Ireland's new online monitoring system which allows members of the public to help in the fight against seasonal flu. Using Influenzanet, an innovative scheme already in place in other European countries, helps medical professionals across Europe track the spread of the virus.

We are now looking to recruit volunteers who will self-report online by completing our short questionnaire.

Why join the survey?

- Help map and fight the spread of flu in your area.
- View interactive maps at a local and national level showing the spread of the disease in its early stages.
- Provide health professionals with an early warning signal of nationwide outbreaks.
- Registration is very quick and easy and the questionnaire is a simple tick box survey which takes no time at all to complete.

So please consider joining Ireland's first National Flu Survey - your involvement can make a difference. Just visit www.flusurvey.ie and you're on board!

help fight the flu

in just a few simple clicks!

For more information please contact:
E: admin@flusurvey.ie
or visit www.flusurvey.ie

flusurvey.ie

A research collaboration between the National University of Ireland, Galway, the Health Protection Surveillance Centre, & international partners from the EU-wide Influenzanet initiative.

 Influenzanet